PROCLAMATION

Be it resolved, that the Administrative Board designate as Dress-Up, Clean-Up and Paint-Up the period commencing May the 8th and extending until June 1st, 1916, this being done to give an opportunity to every resident to join in the crusade; to accomplish betterment of home surroundings, and assist in the improvement of sanitary conditions generally. One effect of the campaign at this time will be to lessen the fly nuisance. We ask that particular attention be paid to the cleaning of stables and outhouses, the breeding places of the pests. We request that the newspapers and the Boy Scouts assist in this crusade, and it is directed that a copy of this resolution be sent to the Superintendent of the Street Cleaning Department with instructions for him to govern himself accordingly.

THE Flickering Candle; the Lamp, with its tiresome cleaning and trimming of wicks; the Gas Jet, it too, flickered and created soot but it was the best means of lighting until science gave humanity the bright, steady rays of the Electric Light. No more dirt and tiresome cleaning of lamp shades and no more flickering lights, but a sanitary, safe, satisfactory means of artificial lighting that is only surpassed by the perfect rays of the sun.

As far back as three or four hundred years before Christ, the great minds of that age were tinkering with a hidden force. In the sixteenth century a man named William Gilbert wrote a book called "De Magneto," and used the expression "electric force" for the first time. Then our own Benjamin Franklin added to the history of Electricity the story we all know so well. In the year 1862 the first Electric Lamp was invented, and thus we have the modern Electric Lamp of to-day.

Eventually you will live in a home wired for electricity; your wash and ironing will be done electrically; cool breezes of the electric fan will be enjoyed by you. Your food will be electrically cooked. We want you to decide this very important question to-day. If your house is not wired, won't you inquire into the approximate cost to-day. Electric current will no doubt decrease in cost, but the cost of wiring is cheaper to-day than it will in all probability ever be again. Call the Commercial Department of this Company to-day and talk it over with our representative.
